Emergency repairs

BAC finance committee to discuss funding alternatives for $1 million project at GC campus

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Emergency repair financing will be the topic of a Belleville Area College finance committee meeting tonight in Belleville. A $1 million repair project is expected to gain the committee's approval, but the question of financing the plan is yet to be resolved.

The committee will examine three funding proposals for the emergency repairs to the Granite City Campus of BAC at 1950 Maryville Road.

THREE ALTERNATIVES were presented to trustees by Chancellor Bruce Wissore at a retreat Friday at the main campus of BAC. Wissore made no recommendations.

Among the alternatives discussed was a health and safety law passed two years ago by the Illinois General Assembly. It would allow BAC to raise the real estate tax rate five cents per $100 assessed valuation without voter approval at an election.

Wissore said the project could also be funded either through the regular operating expenses of the college or with part of the college's $2 million general fund balance.

"IF WE CAN SHORE up our Granite City facility for four years, I'm in favor of the project," said Larry Reineck, chairman of the college board's finance committee. "I think the voters spoke rather loudly on our last tax increase proposal," Reineck said. "If we can make the repairs without raising taxes, that's what we ought to do."

The project would make emergency repairs to the roof over the school's vocational shop areas, administrative offices and library. Also included are repair and replacement of the school's 16 roof-top air-conditioning units.

WISSORE RECOMMENDED improved drainage systems for the campus, especially in student parking areas. Also proposed for repair were the east and west walls, where paint is scaling off.

Statewide, 13 of 39 community college districts have levied property tax increases without voter approval during the past two years.

Cruse backs Price

By BILL BAGBY
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse and Collinsville Mayor Gene Brombolich are both endorsing U.S. Rep. Mel Price, D-Belleville, for re-election.

At a press conference held Monday afternoon at Charlie's Restaurant, the two mayors announced their support for the 81-year-old congressman from the 21st District. He is seeking nomination in the March 18 primary.

"I feel Mr. Price is doing an outstanding job and I think somebody should stand up and say so," Brombolich said.

HE ADDED THAT PRICE is the first candidate he has publicly endorsed.

"I really don't know how much a public endorsement means," he said. "I don't want to say anything bad about the other candidates. But we've got the proper man in office and let's keep him there."

The two mayors agreed they believe the issues of Price's age and health have been overplayed.

"WE COULD GO today," Cruse said. "They (the other candidates) have got him laid out, and it's just not true."

Cruse was recently in Washington and met with Price.

"He can hold a conversation and he's as sharp as he's always been," Cruse said.

"He has done an outstanding job for the district," Brombolich said. "The only things they can take a shot at are his age and health."

CRUSE COMMENTED on the fact that both Mayor Tyrone Echols of Venice and the Madison City Organization headed by Mayor John Belicoff have endorsed Madison County Auditor Pete Fields for the congressional office.

"It's Democrats facing Democrats," Cruse said. "After the primary, we will be back together as one Democratic party."

Both Cruse and Brombolich also are endorsing Bob Astorian of Granite City for Madison County sheriff.

Reviews & Previews In the News

Tear down houses, city says

INCREASING NUMBERS of Granite City houses are being judged unsafe and dangerous by the city building inspector. If necessary repairs are not made, the homes could be demolished, assistant city attorney Charles Douglas said last week. Four cases were filed in October and 16 more cases will be filed this month.

$9.5 million construction begins

CONSTRUCTION COULD BEGIN within 60 days on a $9.5 million industrial plant which will bring more than 50 jobs to the area. The only thing holding up the Eticam Co. project is annexation of adjacent property. The Eticam site is two miles south of the Heidman Steel Products plant on Illinois 3.

City to collect overdue bills

THE CITY WILL "GET TOUGH" on residents who fail to pay delinquent sewer bills. Overdue bills will be collected under the supervision of City Attorney Mark Goldenburg, the council decided by unanimous vote. A $458 delinquent bill prompted the action. The city is owed $76,000 in sewer bills.

Chili supper, meeting tonight

AN ALL-YOU-CAN-EAT chili supper, sponsored by the Service Club for Charitable Donations today from 11:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. and from 4:30 until 6:30 is being held at the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh Street and Lee Avenue. The adult diabetic support group meets tonight at 7:30 in Pascal Hall at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Quote of the Week - Cruse

"THE GUY is as sharp as he's ever been," said Mayor Von Dee Cruse of 21st Congressional District incumbent Rep. Mel Price last week after returning from Washington. The congressman, Cruse said, is still a capable leader and legislator.

SISTER MARY THOMAS JIRAUCH, chairman of the governing board of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, listens to a brief biographical account of herself before receiving the 1985 Woman of Achievement Award in community health. She was one of 10 women to receive the annual award from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat at a luncheon last week in St. Louis. Mergers topic of March 19 meeting

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

VENICE — Divergent points of view on the proposed merger of the Venice and Madison school districts will be presented at a March 19 public hearing.

A condensed version of what may be said at the hearing was heard at Thursday night's meeting of the Venice Board of Education.

MANY QUESTIONS and concerns about pupil identity were the main factors discussed.

A detailed preliminary plan has been prepared and will be explored at the public hearing, scheduled at 7 p.m. Wednesday, March 19, at the Madison Middle School, Caine Drive and Farish Street.

Parents of all Venice and Madison students and interested residents of both districts will be urged to attend.

VOTERS IN BOTH Madison School District 12 and Venice School

District 3 would need to approve the proposal before merger could take effect, Janet Wiley stressed to school board members Thursday.

Wiley represents the Venice district on the Madison County School Reorganization Committee.

The committee is charged with formulating reorganization plans for districts not meeting minimum student enrollment figures of 1,000 for elementary districts and 500 for high school districts.

"ALL WE HAVE DONE is put together a scenario of what things would be like if there was a merger," Wiley said.

"I have found that a lot of people didn't understand why it was being done and still do not realize they are going to vote on the plan before it can take place."

"We are not going to tell them your child is going to go here (to Venice)." (See MERGER, Page 9A)

Downtown development presentation next week

GRANITE CITY — "Downtown Redevelopment" will be the subject of a presentation Tuesday, March 11, at 7 p.m. in the courtroom at City Hall.

Jay Thompson, director of public affairs for the city of East Peoria, will be the featured speaker and will present a slide show which will be open to the public.

EAST PEORIA has been chosen as a model by local city officials, because of its strong similarities to Granite City. It is a small industrial town situated across the river from a much larger, more prosperous neighbor.

In recent years, East Peoria suffered one of the highest unemployment rates in the state as the Caterpillar corporation went from over 20,000 employees to 5,500.

Its central business district badly deteriorated, with little retailing left and most community residents shopping in Peoria or nearby Pekin.

FEMA fund pessimism expressed

GRANITE CITY — Pessimism about Federal Emergency Management Agency money for sewer break repairs was expressed Friday by Mayor Von Dee Cruse following his return from a trip to the nation's capitol.

"There's a possibility our luck has run out," Cruse said.

THE CITY received approximately $273,000 in fiscal 1984 from FEMA, but got nothing in 1985 and nothing is expected in 1986, said City Comptroller Joe Miklovic.

FEMA funds were awarded after heavy rains in 1979 and a tornado in 1983 that are blamed for contributing to the city's sewer line damage, Miklovic said. If the city completes paperwork on emergency breaks identified by FEMA, another $251,745 could be available, Miklovic said.

The sewer break study being conducted for the city should be completed by June.

Headache? Don't blame it on tension anymore

A headache usually — almost always — can be traced to one of two things. Ninety-eight percent are tension or muscular headaches.

Five years ago you'd have taken your headache to a neurologist. His examination would have included routine blood screening, perhaps an EEG, and your bill would have been $150.

If any of those studies proved abnormal, specific additional tests would be ordered — but 98 percent of the time you'd leave with a prescription for tension headache and an examination bill of $150.

Then why in the world does a headache exam today cost upwards of $3,000?

Today, when you take your headache to a neurologist, immediately he is obligated to subject you to a prepared checklist of diagnostic tests: total blood and metabolic evaluation, echocardiogram, CT scan, EEG, and assorted other high-tech studies to cover every rare and exotic ailment known to man which could possibly cause "a headache."

Today's physician does not dare mention "stress" in too many court cases, some plaintiff has pointed a finger at a physician who blamed his ailment on "stress."

If the doctor believes that and does not dare to say it, he will instead refer you to a second neurologist for another opinion.

Paul Harvey

The second neurologist will repeat the battery of studies and may, again to protect himself, refer you to some major medical center for a tertiary opinion.

There you will get an MRI scan.

Now, by the time you are through with examinations — though your headache may have been a "tension headache," nothing more — you may have a combined doctor and hospital bill of $10,000.

In the present litigation atmosphere, neurology is practiced as I have described it more often than not.

The aggregate cost of defensive medicine in the United States is by now in incalculable billions.

One of the problems is this: We Americans are supposed to be judged by a "jury of peers."

High technology has become so complex, so complicated, that no juror is competent to comprehend the complexities.

The easy out for the juror is to let some doctor or some insurance company pay for your headache.

... I had no idea that G-O-D came C.O.D. ...

Candidate knows law enforcement, finance important to voters on March 18

To The Editor:

If it bothers you that only a small percent of the voters can elect the people who will govern us, then you can do your part by going to the polls on March 18.

I know people who say "Phooey! Elections are a joke." They say their individual vote makes no difference; that politics are a lot of gobbledegook and that many elections are rigged.

I can understand why people say such things but, unless they will get out and vote, they are not doing their part to change what they don't like. I have had my own bad experiences. In fact, I would like an answer concerning the last township election before I run for office again. Let me explain a few things that happened.

Political parties find it to their advantage to have their name appear first on the vote recorder because it somehow gives the first party about 5 percent more votes.

Since both parties filed at the same time, a drawing of lots was conducted to determine which party would be first. My Party, 79, won the drawing. So, according to state law, if it goes by numerical manner, which it does, we should have appeared first on the vote recorder.

I will continue to act responsibly through any and all elections and will constantly appeal to the proper authorities for honest and safe elections. We must never lose our voting value without putting up a good fight.

In some countries people join mile-long lines in the rain or hot sun to cast a vote even when they know there is little hope for an honest election count.

Recent Philippine vote-rigging would not allow those people to stand still. They, as in other countries, struck back with sticks, stones or any weapon at hand to regain their lost dignity — their right to vote.

I can't remember where I read this in history, but elections seem more important than ever. In 1643, Oliver Cromwell gained control over England with one vote. In 1776, one vote was responsible for making our language English rather than German.

In interviewing many voters, I have encountered the statement, "Any correction is up to the government." Remember, voters, you are the government, so please vote.

Shane receives youth service award

GRANITE CITY — Charles Shane, a member of Local 67 of the United Steelworkers of America, was presented the George Meany Award Feb. 18 in a ceremony at the union hall, 2334 E. 25th St.

The George Meany Award is labor's highest award for service to youth through the program of the Boy Scouts of America.

The award is given by Local 67 to recognize union members who perform outstanding service to youth as a volunteer Scouting leader.

The presentation was made by LeRoy Stark, Uniwai Scout District commissioner, who cited Shane for many years of volunteer leadership. The George Meany Award consists of a medal suspended from a ribbon, accompanied by a framed certificate.

'Tis the season for diamond requests

By BILL MILLIGAN

GRANITE CITY — 'Tis the season for ball diamond requests to the Granite City Park Board. They will be received at the park district office in Wilson Park.

The board approved requests for use of Park District baseball fields by Granite City High School baseball and softball programs, the Inter-City Baseball League Chiefs and American Legion junior and senior baseball teams at its Feb. 26 meeting.

Rules for park baseball and softball leagues have been revised this year. Copies of the new rules will be made available to team managers.

THE BOARD OPENED bids for maintenance, concession, recreation and playground supplies. Contracts will be awarded upon completion of a review of the bid offers, said Park Director Steve Kessel.

The Delmar Co., Medora, was given permission to photograph participants in the 1986 ice show. The board stressed the firm was not to represent itself as an official photographer for the district.

Permission was granted to the Lutheran Bureau of the Tri-Cities to hold its Easter sunrise service at the ice rink March 30 at 6 a.m.

THE TRI-CITY TRADES and Labor Council, AFL-CIO, was given permission to hold its annual Labor Day picnic in Wilson Park.

Co-ordinated Youth Services of Granite City will use the Lincoln Place Community Center Fridays from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. The group will be there Tuesdays from 12:30 p.m. until 2:15 p.m. during March, April and May.

The board waived a $65 rental fee for the use of the Harold Brown Recreation Center for an Easter egg hunt March 23 from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. The hunt is for special education children.

The board also approved park privileges for the River Bluffs Girl Scout Council, which will conduct a summer day camp June 23-27.

LINCOLN PLACE CENTER will be the site of Special Olympics practices that will begin soon. Olympians will practice from 1 p.m. until 2:30 p.m. each Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the state Special Olympics meet on June 20.

In other actions, the board approved reinstatement of the baseball coordinator's position and authorized seeking of bids for a new office copier.

Loans will encourage industrial use of coal

Release of $2.5 million in Build Illinois funds to finance a statewide Industrial Coal Utilization Program has been announced.

"The need to implement measures making use of Illinois coal feasible is vital to the economic interests of Illinois," Gov. James Thompson said. "The installation of effective, ecological coal-burning systems throughout the state can mean a tremendous boost for the Illinois coal industry."

The $2.5 million will be used to provide companies with low-interest loans for installation of equipment that will burn Illinois coal.

The allocation is part of a proposed $55 million, five-year revolving loan program to help companies offset the capital costs associated with conversion and installation of proven coal-cleaning, coal-use technologies.

The Industrial Coal Utilization Program is administered by the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources (ENR).

Loans are made for a period of seven to 10 years, and loans repaid to the state will be deposited in a revolving fund from which other coal projects will be funded. For the duration of the loan, the recipient is committed to using Illinois coal only.

Financial and technical components of the loan applications will be reviewed by ENR. The applications will be evaluated further by a financial advisory committee consisting of members of the financial community. Final approval will be granted by the Illinois Coal Development Board.

Thompson to speak at dinner honoring four

The Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois will host its second annual "Salute to Southwestern Illinois" dinner Thursday evening, March 6, at the Hilton Inn in Collinsville. The principal speaker and honored guest will be Gov. James R. Thompson.

The salute dinner was established to honor persons who have made an outstanding contribution to the recognition of Southwestern Illinois. Last year, awards were bestowed jointly on Alan Dixon and Paul Simon, U.S. senators, both of whom are from Southwestern Illinois.

THE THEME of this year's dinner is the success of regional cooperation in the promotion of Madison and St. Clair counties.

Those chosen to be honored are Earl Lazerson, president, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and Carl Mathias, Granite City, assistant vice president, Illinois Power Company.

Also scheduled to receive recognition are Ronald Thompson, president, General Railroad, and James O'Flynn, former president, Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

A Leadership Council spokesman said those being honored "led Southwestern Illinois efforts to enhance the region's image and focus its economic development initiatives."

"THEY EXEMPLIFIED the professionalism, commitment and leadership necessary to motivate a concerted effort by many others."

The Leadership Council is a public- and private-sector economic development organization representing Madison and St. Clair counties. Its members are regional leaders from business, industry, labor, government and education.

Principal objectives are to promote economic investment within and enhance the image of Southwestern Illinois.

Discussing Mathias, the spokesman said, "Not only does his position include the charge to coordinate his company's economic development activities throughout Southwestern Illinois, but this has also been his personal goal over the past 20 years."

"CARL MATHIAS, toward this goal, has spent untold volunteer hours in the promotion of Madison and St. Clair counties and the St. Louis metropolitan region."

He serves on the board and executive committee of the Regional Commerce and Growth Association.

Earnings test will aid self-employed

Although the annual earnings test is, in general, the same for self-employed people as for wage earners, there are some differences. Social Security officials said this week.

It is important for people who receive earnings from self-employment to be aware of the differences, it was noted.

The regular annual earnings test places an annual earnings limit on the amount of money a person can earn without affecting benefits. In 1985, the limit was $7,320 for people 65 and over and $5,400 for people under 65. In 1986, it is $7,800 for people 65 and over and $5,700 for people under 65.

Benefits are reduced $1 for each $2 earned over the limit. The earnings test does not apply to people who are 70 or older throughout the year.

During the first year of retirement, wage earners can get a full benefit for any month they don't earn over 1/12 of the annual limit, regardless of their total earnings for the year.

However, self-employed people can get a full benefit for any month they don't perform substantial services in self-employment regardless of their total earnings for the year.

Whether or not services performed in a business are "substantial" depends on a number of factors. They include the amount of time devoted to the business or profession, including time spent planning and managing, the kind of work done, and how the work compares with that the person previously did. The more valuable and highly skilled the work performed, or the larger the business, the more likely it is to be considered substantial.

In general, more than 45 hours of work devoted to business during a month constitutes substantial service. Less than 15 hours a month is never considered substantial.

Another rule is that any income a retired self-employed person receives after the year benefits start, that is not based on services performed after entitlement to Social Security benefits, may be subtracted from gross earnings for purposes of the earnings test.

Childbirth presentation tomorrow

French obstetrician Michel Odent, who inspired the labor spa that recently made its Midwest debut at Christian Hospital's Northwest Division, will keynote a presentation on the labor spa from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Thursday, March 6.

Because of space considerations, the talk will be held in the Detrick Building at the Northeast Division, 11125 Dunn Road, near I-270 and U.S. 367.

Odent, author of Birth Reborn, has received worldwide recognition for pioneering the use of water as a relaxation aid during labor and delivery. Since 1977, thousands of women have used his specially designed "birthing pool" at the Central General Hospital in Pithiviers, France, near Paris.

"Immersion in warm water during labor is an efficient, easy and economical way to reduce the use of drugs during labor and the need for Caesarean delivery," Odent said. "It's especially helpful for women in prolonged labor who are suffering strong and painful contractions."

As part of the presentation, a recent maternity patient at Christian Hospital—one of the first to use its labor spa—will share her experience.

The presentation, sponsored by the hospital and the Childbirth Education Association of St. Louis, is free and open to the public. Health care professionals will be available to answer questions about the labor spa and other maternity programs, and refreshments will be served.

For more information, the hospital's Special Delivery Hotline can be called at 314-831-4361 weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Nutrition guides aiding shoppers

March is National Nutrition Month, a time to recognize the health benefits of eating properly, according to the Schnuck supermarkets. "While most people take this diet-health connection for granted," a spokesman said, "we know that for many people, good health depends on making the right food choices."

"Such people have health concerns, like diabetes or hypertension, that demand special diet considerations. Adjusting to a new diet is rarely easy, but searching for acceptable foods among product-laden market shelves can be an even bigger challenge. In response to this unique customer need, Schnuck's offers the Nutri-Guide program."

Utilizing customer brochures and shelf tags, the Nutri-Guide program helps the customer easily locate special diet foods. Brochures list foods within stores that are acceptable on one or more of the following diets: Calorie Controlled, Fat Modified and/or Sodium Restricted. The brochures are available in Schnuck stores, free to customers and health professionals.

As an added convenience, color-coded tags highlight foods listed in the brochure. Yellow tags indicate foods suitable for a calorie-controlled diet, hot pink tags target fat-modified foods, and green tags flag foods acceptable for a sodium restricted diet.

"Nutri-Guide is not meant to replace the advice of a physician or dietician. We do encourage customers to read product labels carefully."

Dancing will start at 8:30 and the donation for the dance is $3. Door chairmen are Bill and Lenny Lore.

MHC club members and the Ladies Auxiliary donate their work so that all proceeds from the dance can go to the scholarship fund.

In 1985, MHC and the auxiliary donated five scholarships to the Granite City Scholarship Foundation, which selected the recipients and awarded the scholarships.

The foundation, comprised of high school officials and community leaders, awards the scholarships on the basis of scholastic achievements, citizenship, school participation and character.

Joseph Donaldson, Linda Dupont, Tim Gray, Mike Lewis and Linda Valencia, all Granite City High graduates, received Joseph Gonzales scholarships in 1985.

Gifts and gift certificates, used as fund-raisers, are donated by local businessmen and private individuals, Donald Valencia, chairman, said.

Joseph "Colra" Gonzales was a lifelong resident of Granite City and a counselor at Granite City High School. He died in an auto accident in 1971. It is in his memory that the scholarship fund was established and the dance is given each year.

Hospital testing an improved heart pacemaker

A new type of cardiac pacemaker which responds to body movement by increasing the heart rate is being tested at St. Louis University Medical Center. A pacemaker is a device used to stimulate the heart in patients with abnormally slow heart rates. Most pacemakers maintain a single rate, causing the patient to become tired because his heart rate does not increase with his level of activity.

Thomas A. Buckingham, M.D., instructor of medicine, division of cardiology, St. Louis University School of Medicine, is the principal investigator of the project. The Activitrac pacemaker, manufactured by Medtronic Inc., will be implanted into the patient's chest.

Patients will undergo a treadmill test before and after insertion of the pacemaker to see if the Activitrac increases the patient's exercise capacity. Preliminary results indicate this type of pacemaker does improve ability to exercise.

Homemakers sponsor membership drive

As the Homemakers Extension Association celebrates its golden anniversary, 50 years of service to Madison County, the theme "H.E.A. — A Golden Opportunity" was chosen for its membership drive kickoff luncheon.

Membership chairmen from 28 county units, district vice chairmen and county board members attended the program, which set a goal to boost extension membership from 915 to 1,000.

Special guests were Mildred Dresch of Alhambra, state membership chairman, Bernice Adams of Troy, state and county international chairman, and Catherine Mauck and Jan Burnett, county advisers.

Jane Elliott of Godfrey, county membership chairman, formally opened the drive and presided at a luncheon served by members of the Bluffs Unit.

Arla Ault said "self-talk" forms a verbal picture of a person, either positive or negative, adding:

"Statistics show 77 percent of everything one thinks is negative. Medical records indicate 75 percent of illness is self-induced. Only a small percent of people achieve the goals they set. Now is the time to take personal responsibility for positive self-talk."

Applying this theory to membership, Ault said, "Visualize new members filling the chairs at meetings" and then make the necessary contacts. The goal can be reached.

Homemakers Extension Association offers programs in home economics and related topics to interested persons, rural and urban, regardless of race, color, sex, national origin or religion, as a service of the University of Illinois.

Parents Club elects new officers

Bob Miller was elected president of Parents Without Partners Eastside Chapter 91 to serve for the 1986-87 year. Other officers are Vice President Pat Davidson, Secretary Pam Tomlinson, Treasurer Pearl Wright and Membership Vice President Kim Tricomi.

To qualify for membership, a man or woman must be the parent of at least one living child and single because of death, divorce, legal separation or never married. Custody of a child is not a determining factor.

Dues are $15 per year and meetings are held the third Tuesday of each month in the meeting room at the Chamber of Commerce, 221 W. Main St., Collinsville.

PWP was incorporated in New York in March 1958. It now has more than 150,000 members in 1,000 chapters in the United States, Canada, Australia and England. Chapter 91 was the first chapter to be chartered in this region and the second in the metropolitan St. Louis area.

It is an international, non-profit and non-sectarian educational organization devoted to the welfare and interest of a single parent and his or her children. The group also helps the single parent make the transition from a two-parent home to a one-parent home.

Projects include socials and activities for children and members.

school) or must go there," Wiley said.

"IF VOTERS in one affected area turn down the plan, the proposal is defeated," she said.

"If such a merger takes place, all schools in both (Venice and Madison) districts still will be operating, according to the plan," Wiley said.

In the final configuration, the proposal calls for Venice retaining an elementary school attendance center in the present Venice facility, probably for pupils in kindergarten through sixth grade.

VENICE HIGH SCHOOL students would attend Madison High School, the plan proposes.

All buildings currently in use in the Madison district would remain open and serve the same grade levels, including the Middle School.

NO CHILD SHOULD be bused an unreasonable distance from home to a school building, Wiley said.

Decisions on staffing and use of buildings would be made by the elected board of any new district chosen after the merger is approved, the plans say.

DR. STEFAN KRCHNIAK, an education professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and consultant to the committee, will explain the proposal and then open the meeting to questions, she added.

Public hearings also are set for similar merger proposals in the East Alton-Wood River-Hartford area in April and the Warren-Livinston-Stanton area in May.

DISCUSSING overall aspects of the proposal, Wilbert Glasper, Venice board president, said, "We do not want to lose our identity. But kids in our area seem to choose which one (high school) they'll go to, anyway."

"I had the feeling last year that if the people didn't vote it (merger) in, that it still would be done. I really don't feel it is going to happen that way now," Glasper said.

"I've never liked the thought of a merger," Board Member Alvester Salmond said. "I think a child gets more personal attention in a smaller city and school."

I read in the paper about all the advantages of a bigger school, but I still see them (those attending a bigger school) standing on the corner at BiRite," she said.

"I GO FOR EDUCATION all the way, but the bottom line is that I believe in a smaller city you get a better education," Salmond said.

I believe sooner or later by voters or by legislation it is going to happen," Board Member George Wade said.

Keeping in mind that the welfare of the children is the bottom line, I think reorganization is going to be mandated at some time," Wade said.

"It would be a better atmosphere if the people did it themselves. They could force us to do it through (withholding) state aid funds," he added.

"BECAUSE YOU are a small district, that doesn't mean kids here won't succeed. I went to a small high school myself," Superintendent Robert Vickers said.

"Even if the two districts are put together, there still will be a small high school," he said.

"This is what America is all about. It is the democratic way, if the voters accept it. But that isn't what I think is going to happen."

Wisore told trustees repair to the parking lot would probably not fall under the conditions of the health and safety tax legislation.

"At the moment, I think we should explore ways of repairing the campus without raising taxes," Reinick said.

HE SUGGESTED the college could budget $500,000 for the renovations next year and take the rest from the general fund balance.

Other expenditures which might come from the general fund are the initial cost of implementing an early retirement program; increasing instructional budgets; and the cost of bringing the college's faculty at the Menard prison to BAC.

Last November, voters turned down ballot proposals to increase the BAC education and building fund rate limits. As part of the planning at that time, it was proposed to spend $6.5 million, much of it in state funds, to improve the Granite City Campus buildings.

THE $1 MILLION program now under consideration would not fix all the problems at GCC, Wisore said.

"I recommend you do this," Wisore said. "Look at it as an investment in the college's future."

"Without the Granite City Campus, the college would be looking at declining enrollment and possible retrenchment."

The college district's northern, central and southern campuses are at Granite City, Belleville and Red Bud.

pleted by late April, Cruse said. With the study, the city is expected to have an answer for FEMA and to know what is needed for a long-term resolution to the problem.

IN ADDITION to problems in attaining FEMA money for the work, the city's prime source of sewer break repair funds is in danger, Miklovic said. Community Development Block Grant money could be chopped, due to the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act (GRHA), he said.

The trip to Washington was made to learn about the future of FEMA money and to attend a national convention of Emergency Service and Disaster Agency officials. Accompanying Cruse was Granite City ESDA Coordinator Dick Erway.

Concerning how the ESDA will fare after cuts under the GRHA, Cruse said the ESDA will hardly be touched. The anticipated decrease in ESDA funds amounts to 3 percent, he said.

Builders elect Peters, Lindsay

The Southern Illinois Builders Association has re-elected Cyril "Pete" Korte, president, and treasurer of Korte and Luitjohan Excavating Contractors Inc. to serve as SIBA president for 1986.

Other officers elected at the SIBA annual meeting were Jim Peters, vice president of C.D. Peters Construction Co. in Granite City, re-elected as first vice president; Bruce Holland, vice president of operations for Bauer Brothers Construction Co. Inc. in Belleville, elected as second vice president; and P.J. Keeley, president of Kelley and Sons Inc., East St. Louis, elected as secretary-treasurer of the association.

Elected to the SIBA board of directors were: John Rednour, president of R and H Construction Co. Inc., Du Quoin; Charles "Chuck" Postker, president of Calhoun Construction Management Inc., Belleville; Sam Hutchinson, president of Interface Construction Corp., Wood River; Robert "Bob" Mahoney, president of Charles E. The newly re-elected SIBA president told the members, "I'm pleased to be serving another year as president of SIBA, especially during its 49th anniversary year."

Fairway Estates water supply cited by state

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) said last week the Fairway Estates Apartments public water supply near Granite City failed to adequately monitor the bacteriological quality of its water and also failed to notify customers of this deficiency.

Public water suppliers are required to notify customers through the mail within three months after failing to perform adequate monitoring. If the water supplier does not notify its customers within three months of such a violation, the IEPA issues a public notice. This violation occurred during the October 1985 sampling period.

Failure to adequately monitor quality could allow contamination to go undetected for extended periods, the IEPA said. Bacterial contamination may indicate the presence of organisms that could result in a water-borne disease, the agency added.

Canal lock repairs to start March 11

The 1,200-foot chamber at Locks No. 27, Granite City, will be closed continuously for about three days beginning at 7 a.m. on March 11 so that maintenance personnel can repair the lower east wall miter gale's operating machinery.

The 800-foot auxiliary lock chamber here will remain open to traffic. All tows desiring multiple lockage through the auxiliary lock must furnish their own helper boat assistance, a spokesman said.

All vessel owners and operators are being asked to cooperate and follow the directions of the lockmaster during this period of main lock closure. Maximum effort will be made to minimize delays to navigation, the spokesman said.

Smith will purchase small motor business

A.O. Smith Corp. has reached an agreement in principle with Westinghouse Electric Corp. to purchase the small motor business of Westinghouse headquartered in Lima, Ohio.

The two firms plan to complete the transaction promptly after regulatory review. Terms of the sale were not disclosed.

Both firms make fractional horsepower motors used in air movement, water pumping and many other applications. In addition, Smith is a leader in hermetic motors used in the air conditioning and refrigeration industry.

Following the acquisition, Smith will become one of the nation's largest suppliers of fractional horsepower motors, according to Thomas J. Dolan, chairman and chief executive officer of A.O. Smith.

Illinois sending food to Africa

"Illinois Agriculture for Africa - A Gift from the People of Illinois" is the logo which will appear on nearly 10,000 bags of prepared food aid products being shipped to Africa as a result of the Illinois Agriculture for Africa program. The famine relief project coordinated by the Illinois Department of Agriculture was launched last July.

Nearly 700,000 pounds of grain product will fill five train cars and two trucks. It will be shipped from Danville and Paris, Ill., to Pine Bluff, Ark.

WORLD VISION Relief Organization will transport the food from the U.S. to Africa and distribute it to food camps in drought-stricken areas of the sub-Saharan region. Arrival in Africa is set for the second week of April.

Illinois farmers, agribusinesses, churches, civic groups, charitable organizations, citizens and firms contributed $53,246 to the program.

The food shipment to Africa will include 200,000 pounds of corn-soy-milk, 400,000 pounds of soy fortified corn meal and 86,400 pounds of corn meal. Laubhoff Grain of Danville and Illinois Cereal Mills of Paris are processing the grain and have made donations of product and processing time.

"WE WERE HOPEFUL this humanitarian effort would have been even more successful," said Larry Werries, Illinois Agriculture director.

"We are extremely pleased, however, that with our donation of almost 700,000 pounds of food products, we will be able to provide the equivalent of a normal supplemental feeding to 176,767 people in Africa for one month."

The Illinois Coal Association's member companies donated crops grown on reclaimed mine lands in the state and cash totaling $10,282. Transportation of the grain to Arkansas is being furnished by the Union Pacific Railroad. Bemis Bag of Peoria donated special bags with the Illinois logo for shipment. Computer services for the design of a contribution tracking system were donated by Dunn & Bradstreet Computing Services.

Back to Mozart concert March 10

"Jesus, Priceless Treasure - Motet III" by Bach will be sung by the Concert Choral, accompanied by organist Judy Tiemann and Del Whitman on the cello.

The Mozart selection is the "Great Mass in C Minor," which will be sung by the Community Choral Society, the University Singers and the Concert Choral.

Admission is $3 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens.

The cold facts

Hints on reducing the occurrence and severity of common cold

Half of us will catch at least one cold this winter. We get as many as 200 colds in a lifetime.

An estimated 60 million days of school and 50 million days of work are lost each year because of colds, more days than for all other diseases combined.

Children are more susceptible to colds — between the ages of 2 and 6, children get colds twice as often as 9-year-olds, who in turn are twice as likely to have a cold as 12-year-olds. In general, we get fewer colds as we get older.

"Most of us turn to nonprescription medications for cold relief. In fact, Americans spend $500 million to $700 million every year on these medicines to treat their colds, coughs and allergies," said Dennis Hunt, a St. Louis pharmacist with Walgreens, the nationwide drug chain.

"More than 200 viruses can cause colds. The sheer number makes it impossible to develop a cold vaccine that can protect against all of them. Nothing will cure or shorten a cold, including vitamin C or antibiotics (which treat bacterial infections, not viruses). All you can do is relieve the symptoms until the cold goes away.

"It takes five to seven days for a cold to run its course," said Hunt. "Unfortunately, having one cold won't provide immunity from a second cold. If you're not careful about washing your hands frequently, you could infect yourself."

"While there's no way to avoid colds completely, you can minimize your chances of getting a cold. Fine droplets of moisture on the breath of the cold sufferer contain the virus, so colds are spread by hand contact, coughing, sneezing or speaking."

"You can even catch a cold from a doorknob or the table where a virus has rested some viruses can live for several days on a hard surface.

"Avoiding a cold is made more difficult because the incubation period of one to four days — before symptoms appear — is the time when the cold sufferer is most contagious."

"Avoiding prolonged close contact with a cold victim isn't always practical — for example, children bring home most of the colds their parents catch," said Hunt. "However, you are more likely to catch a cold when your resistance is down, through fatigue, poor diet or nervous tension. Contrary to what your mother may have told you, chilling, wet feet or not wearing a hat do not cause colds by themselves."

Once you have a cold, several things can make you feel better:

• Fluids, particularly fruit juices, prevent dehydration and help loosen mucus secretions. (Chicken soup or hot tea is great for clearing sinuses.)

• Analgesics like aspirin or acetaminophen help relieve aches and pains and reduce fever.

• Decongestants (pills or nasal sprays) reduce nasal swelling and sinus congestion, helping you breathe easier.

• Antihistamines help dry watery eyes and runny noses.

• Cough suppressants can reduce or suppress your cough.

• Sore throat lozenges or home remedies may soothe your irritated throat. Try gargling with salt water (2 teaspoons in a quart of water) or aspirin (5 aspirin tablets dissolved in a glass of lukewarm water).

"If you take a nonprescription product for cold relief, be careful not to take it longer than the directions recommend," Hunt warned. "You should also be aware of side effects, which should prevent some people from taking certain medicines. For example, decongestants can raise blood pressure, so people with high blood pressure should not take them."

Many serious ailments begin with cold symptoms — especially in children or older adults, Hunt said. Cold symptoms are a stuffy or runny nose, a slight fever or chills, perhaps with a cough or headache, all of which usually last just a few days.

Prolonged or more severe symptoms might mean you have more than a cold. The following symptoms may indicate the flu, strep throat or other infections that require a physician's care:

- A high fever (more than 100 degrees or 101 degrees F) or a fever that lasts more than 24 hours in spite of treatment.
- Swollen lymph glands or red, inflamed tonsils with white spots.
- A heavy or violent cough, coughing up blood.
- Stomach pains or diarrhea.
- Pain in the chest or ear.

Doctors appeal malpractice ruling

Illinois physicians and their patients are outraged and surprised that attorneys and the circuit court have acted unilaterally to 'undo' the malpractice reforms the state legislature enacted this year.

"This was the response of Morgan M. Meyer, M.D., to news that Cook County's Circuit Court had overturned Illinois' new medical malpractice reform law. Meyer is president of the Illinois State Medical Society."

"The court ruling stemmed from a taxpayer's lawsuit filed in June at the request of the Illinois Trial Lawyers Association — a group which opposed the new law."

"Defendants are expected to seek immediate appeal to the Illinois Supreme Court."

"The law was carefully drafted," Meyer said, "to overcome constitutional objections raised 10 years ago by the Supreme Court. It denies no patient his or her day in court."

Meyer took plaintiff attorneys and the circuit court to task for "their interest in preserving the status quo — a costly, inefficient legal system which benefits only lawyers — not the injured patients it should serve."

He cited long deliberations of Illinois' General Assembly. Its legislative leaders on both sides of the aisle, and the governor's task force as proof that "the crisis is real."

"How can we solve the crisis," he asked, "if the courts continually disallow legislative reform?"

"For the court to deny that a crisis exists is to ignore the marketplace signals and expert assessments on both sides of the issue."

"Attorney organizations, physicians, business groups and other key interests affected by rising health care costs, all acknowledged the medical malpractice litigation problem, many signing on as supporters of reforms. This ruling bodes ill for businesses, cities and organizations trying to reform the system."

Meyer concluded by reasserting the medical community's collective commitment to continue "the fight to restore balance to Illinois' civil justice system. We are confident the Supreme Court will view the crisis and its growing dimensions with a broader perspective than did the Circuit Court. The future cost and availability of health care are at stake."

The Illinois State Medical Society represents 15,000 practicing physicians statewide. Dr. Meyer is a specialist in internal medicine from Lombard.

Advisory warns of 'diploma mill'

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Many people who claim to be nutrition "experts" are graduates of diploma mills — institutions that award degrees for a sum of money.

In many cases, no classes are required. However, the "student" may receive credits for life experiences, working at a particular job and so forth.

Although diploma mills grant many different kinds of degrees, nutrition is a current favorite. It's a popular subject today, so many hucksters are using their store-bought diplomas to make money promoting and selling dangerous and useless products.

Diploma mills often adopt names similar to those of legitimate institutions. The name often has the word "American" in it. One person on the west coast sold more than 2,000 spurious diplomas bearing the names of important-sounding institutions. He was found to have 30,000 blank diplomas ready to sell. The typical diploma mill sells a doctoral degree in nutrition for about $2,300, while a master's degree is only about $1,250. A bachelor's degree is a real bargain, at only about $800.

The problem is that many less knowledgeable people can believe the person with a mail-order degree is really an authority. That could be dangerous if these people followed the advice of such hucksters.

It's sometimes hard to tell whether nutrition information you read or hear is based on years of scientific research, or on the huckster of a diploma mill graduate. But there are several things you can do to make sure you're not heeding the advice of a nutrition huckster. First, check the credentials of authors of books and articles on nutrition. If you're still unsure, ask a registered dietitian or a physician if the information is accurate. County extension home economists are also trained to recognize good and bad nutrition advice.

Consumers should be wary of "nutritionists" who promote specific diets and books on popular national television shows. The same goes for information that is released through local media.

People who write or talk about nutrition usually have a genuine interest in the subject. But often they're trying to sell a specific product or diet, or promote a specific retail store that sells health foods or dietary supplements.

CONGRESSMAN MELVIN PRICE

continues to make the Tri-Cities work...

- 1) Nearly 800 persons work at the St. Louis Area Support Center in Madison and Granite City and return $18 million annually to those communities. This facility, often slated for closure, is thriving today under Price's protective watch.
- 2) Price uses his influence on the House Armed Services Committee to bring government contracts to Tri-City businesses. Consolidated Aluminum and Air Products and Chemical Inc. recently were awarded large Energy Dept. contracts. Consolidated, which depends heavily on the government for work, employs 350 people.
- 3) Price has successfully negotiated with the U.S. Army on behalf of the Tri-City Port District. The negotiations for land and a warehouse will allow for expansion to lure new business and create jobs. This expansion, along with the Alton Lock and Dam and riverfront park in East St. Louis, should lead the way for economic prosperity on the waterfronts.

Beat together margarine and sugars until light and fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla.

Add combined flour, baking soda and salt alternately with water. Mix well. Stir in oats.

Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto cookie sheet. Bake 12 to 14 minutes at 350° or until light golden brown.

Cool 1 minutes on cookie sheet. Remove to wire cooling rack.

Store in tightly covered container. Makes 4 dozen.

Mighty in math

Society is changing the role of colleges

Because of changes in our society, the role of community colleges like Belleville Area College is changing. James Galloway, assistant superintendent of the Illinois Department of Adult, Vocational and Technical Education, was part of a group that recently toured several of BAC's technical education departments.

"The community college's role is changing and expanding to serve changing community needs," Galloway said. "Community colleges have done a tremendous job in human needs and are now turning to economic needs."

He said changes in society and the students themselves are forcing community colleges to change. Originally, most community college programs provided low-cost transfer credits to students just out of high school. Today, they are providing more vocational education and serving a larger age group.

Galloway said community colleges are seeing more "non-traditional" students.

"In the past, we had mostly kids out of high school coming to college full time," he said. "More and more of our students today are adults."

"The role of the community college is now becoming one of upgrading job skills in an increasingly high-tech work world," he said. "A welder may come back to school to learn new welding techniques and secretaries and office workers come back to learn word-processing skills."

Because many students in community colleges are non-traditional students with jobs, families and other responsibilities, colleges have become more flexible, Galloway said.

"People in the community have to learn," he said. "They can either take a few courses or a full program."

The HITS program is designed to meet these needs quickly. Under the program, businesses which are creating new jobs are eligible for grants to train new workers.

HITS started in 1977 with $300,000 in federal vocational education funds, and has since expanded to a $3.6 million program funded mostly by the state.

"The early idea was that the state had a need, even in the prosperous '60s and early '70s, to be involved in expanding the economy through job programs," Galloway said. "The trend was for the state to have initiatives to expand and improve the economy."

He said there is a need to relate education to the economy. In the past five months, BAC has helped three local industries obtain HITS grants totalling $124,031 and providing 326 new jobs.

"It's a good thing to see BAC working this close to industries," Galloway said. "They're moving into a new era of close cooperation and involvement with business."

Election '86

U.S. Senator

Two Republicans and two Democratic candidates for U.S. Senator are seeking party nomination in the March 18 primary election.

Republicans are George A. Ranney Jr. of Chicago and Judy Koehler of Henry, and the Democrats are Sen. Alan J. Dixon of Belleville and Sheila Jones of Chicago.

George Ranney

George Ranney of Chicago, a lawyer, businessman and civic leader, is seeking the Republican nomination for U.S. senator in the March primary election.

Ranney said, "I feel I can most effectively represent the people of Illinois. I have vast knowledge of the state, its economy, its people and their needs."

As to his qualifications, the candidate said, "I have headed up and served on many agencies and committees vital to the progress of the state and the greater Chicago area." Ranney as vice president of Inland Steel Co. is responsible for the production of iron and steel from mining through lake transportation to blast furnace operations. He also oversees corporate purchasing and energy.

He is president of the Inland Steel Coal Co. in southern Illinois. His areas of responsibility include 5,000 employees and an annual budget of over $1 billion.

He formerly was deputy director, Illinois Bureau of the Budget, from 1969 to 1973.

The candidate has remained active in governmental issues, serving as chairman of the Task Force on the Future of Illinois by appointment of Gov. James R. Thompson, 1977-1980. He was appointed a public member of the Illinois Transportation Study Commission of the Illinois General Assembly by then Senate President William Harris, and he headed the citizens' campaign for the Regional Transportation Authority.

Ranney was born in Chicago on April 11, 1940, and grew up in Libertyville, where his family still has a farm.

He and his wife, Victoria Post Ranney, are the parents of three children, Sara, Allison and Ben.

He has been endorsed by the Chicago Tribune, 10 prominent Republican women elected officials, and 16 Illinois legislators.

Alan J. Dixon

Alan J. Dixon and Sheila Jones, candidates for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator in the March primary, did not return questionnaires to the Press-Record/Journal giving specific answers to questions relating to this area.

Sheila Jones resides at 655 W. Irving Park Road in Chicago. Dixon, the incumbent U.S. senator, lives at 7533 Claymont Court in Belleville. Elected to the Senate for a six-year term in 1980, he at present serves on three subcommittees of the U.S. Senate Armed Services Committee.

He was born in Belleville on July 7, 1927, and was educated in the public schools there. At the University of Illinois, he received a bachelor of science degree. He then obtained a law degree from Washington University in St. Louis.

Dixon said he hoped to raise at least $4 million for his 1986 campaign, in a statement released in November.

He said he would try to stop wasteful military spending, and he was instrumental in the Defense Department's cancellation of the inoperative Sgt. York anti-aircraft gun.

He favors opening up military procurement practices to greater public scrutiny. He sponsored legislation vetoed by President Reagan to advance crop loan payments to farmers.

Dixon has succeeded in persuading the Illinois Congressional delegation to meet on a regular basis to review state issues and needs as they apply to Washington legislation.

He at present is urging legislators to adopt a federal tax amnesty program patterned after state amnesty programs.

Dixon describes himself as a "political moderate" and said his policy has been to reject extremes and pursue "common sense, achievable goals."

Elected as police magistrate of Belleville at the age of 21, he has served continuously in public office since that time and has won 27 consecutive elections.

He is the only candidate ever to lead in all 102 counties and in every Chicago ward, and traditionally achieves massive election victories.

Dixon served in the Illinois legislature for 20 years, first as a state representative and then as a state senator and as one of the Senate leaders before being elected state treasurer, and then Illinois secretary of state.

Judy Koehler

Judy Koehler, state representative from Henry, seeks the Republican U.S. Senate nomination.

"As a Republican leader in the legislature, I believe in Republican principles and the need to field the most formidable state possible to assure victory in November," she commented.

"The way to create lasting employment is to keep the economy moving forward. My record is one of working to improve the business climate in Illinois."

"I have opposed tax increases and the rampant growth of government that costs our state jobs. Unemployment needs to be lowered by holding the line on taxes, keeping interest rates low and helping businesses to succeed."

She favors a pro-life amendment to the Constitution. She does not yet have an opinion on ways to improve bridges in the state.

Koehler said, "With U.S. economic health threatened by the huge federal deficit, it makes little sense for us to continue providing revenue sharing to financially healthy local governments, many of which have large surpluses."

However, I would be willing to consider continuation of the program in some form for economically devastated communities."

On developing the East St. Louis riverfront, she said, "I support enterprise zones and I would aggressively seek legislative solutions to encourage the private sector to take an active role in the development process."

"A strong national defense is the key to maintaining peace in the world, but I would carefully examine every aspect of military spending so that taxpayers could be sure they are receiving their money's worth," the candidate said.

In regard to spending cuts under the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law, she said one of her goals would be to work to instill more self-discipline in Congress so there would be no need to resort to "this type of drastic action."

More funding must be provided to address the expensive problem of cleaning up toxic waste sites in this country, Koehler said.

Secretary of State

Jim Edgar

Secretary of State Jim Edgar, the Republican incumbent, is more concerned with getting headlines and raising money than job performance, one Democratic Party contender said.

The criticism comes from Joe Kattarz, a Chicago officeholder seeking Edgar's job.

"This election will offer voters a clear choice between a Republican showhorse and a Democratic workhorse," said Kattarz.

A Chicago alderman, Kattarz introduced a city ordinance on liquor control which prohibits happy hour and two-for-one specials in drinking places.

If elected, he said he would promote similar initiatives elsewhere in Illinois, as well as promoting drinking and driving.

"In my judgement, the incumbent has done little or nothing to try and change the climate that not only permits, but encourages drinking and driving," Kattarz said.

"More punishment than prevention, and again, in headlines, the incumbent has substituted harassment and selective enforcement for a ban on late night 'happy hour' and other drink incentives that fill the roads with drunk drivers," he added.

He also blasted Edgar for what he called an inconsistent stance on the mandatory automobile insurance program.

"If he would forget the headlines and editorials, and undertake the hard work necessary to overcome the opposition of the insurance industry, he would have a more realistic insurance in Illinois," Kattarz said.

The candidate is undaunted by Edgar's tenure and foothold in the office, saying he has had some practice in ousting incumbents.

He defeated a veteran incumbent by 5,000 votes to win the alderman seat and was elected 2-to-1 to a Democratic ward committeeman position held by an entrenched incumbent.

Kattarz previously was employed as an ironworker and a civilian employee of the Chicago Police Department.

He graduated from DePaul University with a political science degree and from John Marshall Law School in 1983 when he opened up a neighborhood law practice.

Janice Hart

A candidate for the Democratic Party's nomination for secretary of state, Janice Hart said she wants to take a broader look at issues than those which affect only Illinois residents.

Specifically, she is in favor of a large scale military buildup including a laser defense system, a wide-ranging effort to combat AIDS, reversal of the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act and monetary reforms to reorganize the national debt.

Because the AIDS epidemic has taken the lives of 30 million Africans and more than one million Americans, Hart said drastic measures need to be taken to avoid the complete loss of the Western Civilization.

She recommends $4 billion to $5 billion be spent on AIDS research this year and that testing and quarantine measures be implemented to protect "both the victim and public from further infection."

An "Apollo-style" approach combining all scientific and medical efforts also is necessary to conquer AIDS and related diseases, she added.

"This bill (GRI) compromises our national security and national economy by sacrificing $60 billion to $80 billion in medical spending for fiscal year 1987," Hart said.

The bill also will cut $85 billion in medical-medicaid health programs and billions more in transportation services and other "necessary infrastructure," she said.

She compared the proposed cuts to a doctor being praised for his excellent surgical techniques, though losing the patient.

A full-scale military style war on drugs is sought by Hart, who said more than $200 billion in "dirty" money is annually laundered through otherwise legal channels.

"We are in a strategic, economic and moral crisis that threatens to destroy 2,500 years of Western Civilization," she said. "Our political leaders, on all levels are totally inadequate to deal with this crisis."

An independent consultant in Chicago, Hart is part of the statewide and nationwide slate of six Democratic Party candidates supported by Lyndon LaRouche, a frequent presidential candidate.

Aurelia Pucinski

Following in her father's footsteps, Aurelia Pucinski, Chicago, daughter of Chicago Alderman Roman Pucinski, seeks the Democratic Party's nomination for Illinois secretary of state.

Candidate Pucinski was with her father during his term in Congress, helped in his unsuccessful bid for the U.S. Senate in the early 1970s and assisted in his aldermanic career.

She will compete against Republican incumbent Jim Edgar if she earns the nomination and admits it could be an uphill battle because of Edgar's name recognition.

Edgar's name is on every current driver's license in the state - a feat that will be hard to beat.

Pucinski's career is not without its own merits. She is a commissioner of the Metropolitan Sanitary District in Cook County. She was the party's top vote-getter with a total of 1.2 million ballots.

She also has worked as regional counsel for the federal Small Business Administration and as an assistant corporation counsel for Chicago's Law Department.

She has gained expertise in acquiring contracts as a partner in a business-development firm that helps small businesses attain federal government contracts.

Though Edgar has been an active proponent of drunken driving and the literacy laws in the state, Pucinski believes he should take a front-runner role and be more of a leader in fighting drunk driving.

Edgar has been opposing briefing on drunken driving laws, but has not taken steps to curb the problem from its origins, she added.

As usual, she said, Pucinski said she would work with taverns and restaurants to curb alcohol abuse and drunken driving and to lobby for even stiffer DUI legislation.

Pucinski is married and the mother of three children.

Rites held Tuesday for Bernice Hotson

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Tuesday, March 4, at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., for Mrs. Bernice (Herford) Hotson, 64, of 2701 Center St.

Mrs. Hotson died at 8:15 p.m. Friday, Feb. 28, 1986, at Barnes Hospital, where she was admitted Feb. 17.

Burial was at St. John Cemetery, 2801 Nameoki Road.

• Downtown

In 1980, East Peoria officials determined to reverse this and established a Tax Increment Finance Area downtown.

Since that time, they have witnessed the construction of 70,000 square feet of new office space and 105,000 square feet of new retail stores. They will be breaking ground for a 120,000-square-foot shopping center this spring.

Tax increment financing was described as the tool which made all of this possible. By adopting the TIF ordinance, East Peoria was able to create an increase in property tax revenue and borrow against it to raise funds. This money was then used to purchase and clear land, widen streets and beautify the area.

GRANITE CITY is preparing a tax increment ordinance. Members of the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and economic development committee went to East Peoria in January and invited city officials to make their presentation to Granite City.

For more information, Al Orbital, city coordinator, can be contacted at 432-6215.

Comptroller

Roland Burris

Roland Burris is running on his record of success in office to exhibit because of its successfulness during the past seven years.

Burris seeks the democratic nomination to succeed to the office. Though he had never held a public office before being elected to the comptroller's office in 1979, Burris said he was well qualified. Today he feels even more qualified.

He served more than 18 years in various capacities at the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. During his tenure as comptroller, he credits himself with:

- Organizing a system to detect fraud and waste in government;
- Providing monthly fiscal reports of the state's financial health;
- Preparing a brochure to educate local groups how the state's money is divided;
- Developing a new check replacement system to aid senior citizens whose checks have been lost or stolen; and
- Organizing a new accounting system which could save millions by getting a better bond rating for the state.

The list goes on and Burris said he wants to be there to make sure programs he initiated continue to head in the direction he projected.

He said he supports the public's right to know about private investments of its elected state officials. However, he said an individual's privacy should not be compromised.

Freedom of information laws which allow the press and public complete and free access to state government records also should be mandated, he added.

"It is difficult to envision any matter relating to the state of Illinois that should not be a matter of public record," Burris said. "I believe such laws are in the national and the public interest."

Burris lives in Chicago with his wife and two children. He is president of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers.

Burris is running against Donald S. Clark, Chicago, in the primary. Republican Adeline Joy Geo-Karis of Zion will face the Democratic Party's choice. Neither returned questionnaires.

Additional students on honor roll

GRANITE CITY - Several names were not included in the high school honor roll published by this newspaper Feb. 20. The following students made the honor roll: Timothy Sean Heavner, Nathan Scott Blasson, Richard L. Wilson and Denise Renea Worthen. Kurt Luemann and Eric Achenbach were listed on the honor roll but actually received high honors during the first term.

Johnson leaving Departing transit director praised

Rudy C. Johnson, managing director of the Madison County Transit District, will leave the district in March and return to his former company, American Transit Corp.

"My role to provide management and guidance during the district's transitional years of 1984 and 1985 is largely completed. With the cooperation of the board of trustees and the active leadership of its chairman, William R. Haine, the direction and affairs of the district have proceeded to the point where planned capital and operational programs are being implemented," Johnson said.

"IN THE PAST TWO years we have consolidated most of the special-needs agencies transportation under the operation of the recently-formed Agency for Community Transit (ACT) and given ACT responsibility to operate the scheduled, fixed-route neighborhood shuttle buses which are available to the general public."

"I'm proud to have participated in the work of the district, and plan to follow its progress."

"Facing the reality of ever-diminishing federal support, which will place a greater burden on state and local resources, Chairman Haine and the board members have established a course of action which will provide Madison County residents with innovative, tailored transit services."

"LOCALLY-ORIENTED services, where feasible, will also aid in receiving maximum value from each cost-dollar and will assure a controlling role in the quality of services offered."

Johnson came to the district on a consulting project, contracted with American Transit during April and May of 1984.

He agreed to serve as managing director for an indefinite period under contract between the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council and the district. He was previously with American Transit for 15 years.

THE DISTRICT BOARD unanimously voted to thank Johnson for his service to the district. "Rudy Johnson came in at a crucial time when we needed his expertise in building a local transportation service," Haine said.

"Rudy provided a consistent, calm and forthright attitude toward consultation of local and handicapped services. He was especially instrumental in keeping the district on the track of efficient operation of these services."

He foresaw the upcoming federal cutbacks and kept repeating the need to cut duplication by organizing the Agency for Community Transit as the primary provider in the county.

"He was also a strong supporter of a maintenance facility and he frequently stated at board meetings that the district would forever lose an opportunity if the board declined to invest in that facility. (It is being built by Mitchell.)"

"PREDICTING the coming dependence of many social service agencies on the transit board for their transportation services because of the federal fund cutbacks, he urged that these services be placed under one agency so as to save the further expense of operating them."

The board also took note of Johnson's participation in a nationwide transit conference held in Collinsville by the board. At that conference, there was frequent mention by national experts of a need to provide a wider scope of transportation services in Madison County.

Haine added, "We see a future where Bi-State Agency expenditures are controlled by the district board as well as demand/response service to the handicapped, elderly and other age strictly monitored and controlled."

"IT HAS BEEN a difficult year because some of the agencies, frankly, are spending money rather than transportation service, but we relied on Johnson and Jerry Kane of ACT to come up with a plan that made sense for these services for the coming generations in Madison County, and our transit board had the guts to do it."

"I'm as proud of our board as I am of our staff. I can't put any nice things about a guy like Rudy Johnson who hangs tough in favor of good public policy based on competent analysis."

Win Sectional

Devils move on to Charleston

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

VANDALIA As in baseball, when you had better be ahead of a team with a good relief pitcher going into the seventh inning, you had better be way ahead of the Venice Red Devils when the third quarter starts. Way ahead.

The Devils have a way of coming out of the locker room at halftime with fire in their eyes. They did again Friday night as they sprinted past the (Trenton) Wesclin Warriors before they knew what hit them. Trailing 24-18 at intermission, the Devils outscored Wesclin 24-11 in the third period en route to a 50-45 victory in the finals of the Vandalia Class A Sectional and a berth in Tuesday night's Super-Sectional against the unbeaten Teutopolis Wooden Shoes.

The win was Venice's 14th in a row and gave them a mark of 25-5 going into the meeting with the 28-0 Wooden Shoes, the No. 1 Class A team in Illinois. Wesclin ended its season at 25-5.

Coach Clinton Harris noticed something in the Warrior defense which prompted him to move honorable mention All-State Jesse Hall to guard at the beginning of the decisive third quarter, and it worked. "They were playing a box-and-one defense in the first half and they were leaving an area near the free-throw lane pretty open," Harris said. "I was telling my weakside guard to get over there, but they weren't always listening to me. In the second half, I moved Jesse to guard to take advantage of that."

The result was 10 third quarter points for the 6-3 junior, who had 22 on the night. Ed Ware also got hot in the third quarter as he dropped in 8 of his 12 points in those 8 minutes. For Wesclin Coach Paul Lusk, the Devils' improved shooting in the third quarter was the difference. "There were no surprises," he said as he paced back in forth outside the locker room. "They just started to put the ball in the hole. They got hot, we got cold and we didn't take care of the ball."

The Devils have developed a pattern in recent games of starting quickly, then suffering through a bad second quarter, regaining control in the third quarter and holding on in the fourth. That pattern held up again Friday.

Hall had 8 points in the first period as the Devils took the ball straight to the basket while the Warriors were making only 3 of 14 shots in the quarter. But things began to change. Wesclin began to chip away in the second quarter until Doug Mueller, who paced the Warriors with 18 points, hit baskets to tie the game and then put Wesclin ahead 18-16. Two free throws by Rob Wutzler put the Warriors ahead by six and they took that advantage with them to the locker room.

Venice matched Wesclin's first quarter shooting performance by making only 3 of 14 shots in the second quarter. But Hall and Ware began to find the open spots and hit their jumpers and Vincent Harris' steal and feed to Hall evened the score at 28-28.

Steve Drager's 3-point play gave the Warriors the lead one last time as Ware wrapped two jump shots around a Wilford Wigfall basket to make it 34-31 for the Devils.

Wesclin tied to work the ball for a last shot by Harris came up with a loose ball and hit Wigfall at the other end for a layup at the buzzer to give the Devils a 42-35 edge after three quarters.

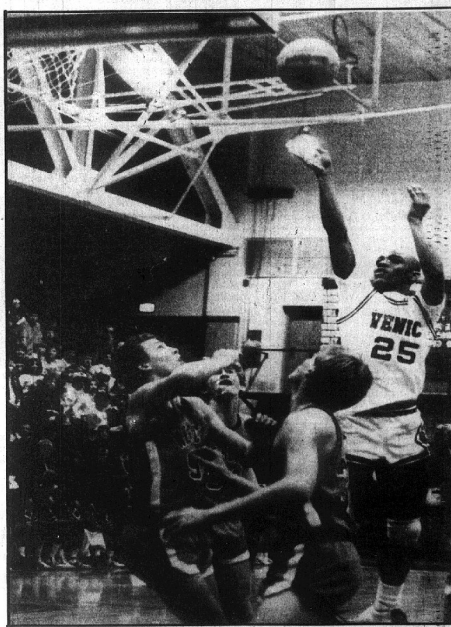

After the Warriors hit the first basket in the fourth quarter, the Devils ran almost 90 seconds off the clock until Hall got free underneath for a slam dunk. It was the only field goal of the quarter for Venice, but they connected on 6 of 10 free throws down the stretch to hold off the Warriors.

"We had 7-point lead then," Harris said. "We didn't have to take any bad shots. All we were looking for were 5-pointers or layups."

Or slam dunks, of course. The Devils' offense to adjust to Wesclin's defense in the first half left Harris a little excited at halftime.

"I don't like yelling," he said. "I've got a headache right now. But we had to do the things we do best."

Hall welcomed the chance to play guard, his favorite position, in the second half.

"Coach switched me to guard to adjust to some things they were doing," Hall said. "They were basically the type of team we expected. We just didn't attack in the first half. But we did enough to win after that. But we can do better."

Hall said Venice would try to "run a lot and pound the boards" against Teutopolis.

"Hall is a great player," Lusk said. "But the other kids aren't too bad. They've got the shooters and jumpers to stay with Teutopolis. The edge is with Teutopolis but I

Sparks, Fenoglio struggle at state wrestling meet

By DAVE WHALEY

CHAMPAIGN For Tom Sparks, it was quite an accomplishment just to get there.

Granite City's two qualifiers in the Illinois State Wrestling Tournament last weekend didn't fare extremely well, but they can hold their heads high as the another wrestling season comes to a close.

Sparks, who missed much of the middle part of the wrestling season after suffering a broken ankle, came within one victory of reaching the quarterfinals in the 145-pound weight class.

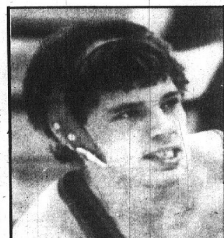

Mike Fenoglio, another sectional champion, was defeated in another first round bout on Thursday and was eliminated from competition the next day.

But it was still a memorable weekend for both wrestlers. For Sparks, it was his second trip to state. Fenoglio made his first visit to the Assembly Hall.

"They're both seniors and they worked very hard for this," said Granite City Coach Walt Whitaker. "I was hoping we could do a little better than we did, but the competition was very good."

Sparks was defeated by a 9-3 decision in Thursday's preliminary round by Darin Anderson of Dekalb.

"The Anderson kid was a very good wrestler," Whitaker said. "He ended up placing in the final competition."

Tom Sparks

Mike Fenoglio

Losers in the preliminary rounds can come back for further action only if the wrestler that beat them wins in the next round of competition. Anderson won his next match, sending Sparks into the wrestlebacks against Alex Knighten, a senior from Chicago Julian. Sparks won that match but lost to Emmett Higgins, a junior from Chicago St. Patrick.

A win there would have sent Sparks into the quarterfinals. His comeback from the midseason injury was remarkable, however.

"We had to tape Tommy's ankle for the first few matches after he came back," Whitaker said. "But by the latter part of the season he was back to full strength."

Sparks finished the year at 18-5. Fenoglio, meanwhile, suffered a disqualification in his preliminary round bout with Matt McDermott of Oak Park (River Forest), a junior. McDermott, however, lost his next match, eliminating Fenoglio.

Fenoglio ended the season with a record of 35-6.

Stars seek more improvement

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY Going 13-16 and being knocked out in your first postseason game is not generally looked at as a successful season.

And, make no mistake, Terry Collins is not totally happy with the way things went for the Granite City Stars in the 1985-86 basketball season.

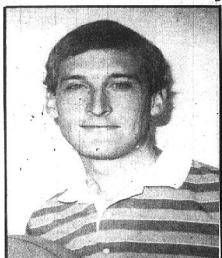

But he was progress this year. Definite progress.

You see it's only the Stars' third year in existence and Granite City's 13 wins are more than they collected in the first two seasons combined. And, without six players available last Thursday, the Stars hung right with Belleville Area College for much of the game before losing 76-65.

Even if they had won, their next task would have been even tougher — a meeting with the Kaskaskia Blue Devils in the finals of the Region 2, Section 3 tournament on Saturday The Blue Devils, at 27-2 the No. 6 junior college team in the nation, ran by BAC 91-71 Saturday afternoon to advance to the regional tournament this weekend in Charleston, Ill.

That's where Collins wants the Stars to be next year.

"I want to win 20 games next

Terry Collins

year," he said. "And I would want to get to the regional tournament. That's a goal we can set."

To meet that goal, a lot of work must be done. The first priority, naturally, is to recruit some more players. The group returning next year will have a lot of experience.

Jeff Gray, Jeff Pieper, Kirt Robinson and Mike Hellmer were all freshmen, as was Perry Jones, who was suspended by Collins and missed the BAC game. Another freshman who showed flashes was Andy Lyde, a mid-year transfer from New Haven, Conn. At Johnson of East St. Louis was the only sophomore on this year's squad.

"The new players this year deserve credit," Collins said. "But our major weakness this year was obviously ball handling. We've just got to get some good ball handlers on this team for next year."

Collins believes a good way to build interest in his program is to recruit local players whom the fans in the area already know. That is the best way to get people out to Maryville Road for the home games. "I thought Jeff Gray would help us a little more in that way this season," Collins said. Gray was a 1985 graduate of Granite City High School.

The crowd at Thursday's game was a little better than many of the regular season gatherings, however, and if Collins can land some of the

It's on to East St. Louis after 'Survival' in Collinsville

Still recovering from Friday night's heart stopper in Collinsville? Me, too.

If they want to go to Champaign, the Granite City Warriors figure to be in for some tough ball games, both in this week's sectional at East St. Louis and then, surviving that, next Tuesday's Super-Sectional at Carbondale.

But it's hard to imagine the Warriors facing circumstances any tougher than what they faced Friday at the Purple Palace.

First, there was the law of averages. There had to be some concern among Don Deterding's troops for the past few weeks, ever since the regional pairings were announced.

The Warriors figured to get by Roxana in the first round. The Shells, coached by ol' Charlie Raich, usually have very good football teams and did again this year. But basketball, well, that's something else. Granite City cruised to a 95-53 win.

It was then very possible, if not probable, that the Warriors would be up against their old rivals from Kahok-land in the finals on Friday. The Kahoks had to knock off a tough Edwardsville squad to set up Granite City-Collinsville IV.

That's not to be confused with Rocky IV, although it was as hard-fought. The law of averages, if the law really means anything, would seem to indicate Collinsville's time had come. The first three encounters had all gone Granite City's way. The Warriors had pulled out two 3-point games in Collinsville and a 10-point triumph at home.

Sports Comment

Dave Whaley

Collinsville teams like nothing better than beating Granite City in anything. They had had an otherwise mediocre season. The Warriors came in the 11th-best Class AA team in the state. The Kahoks had no problems getting psyched up.

As the game went on, it had to be a little worrisome for the loyal group of Warrior fans at the Purple Palace. Granite City, the highest scoring team in the area, was being dragged into a tedious, low-scoring affair.

Even worse, the firing mechanism on Granite City's smallest but most explosive gun, 5-9 junior guard Tim Hogan, was malfunctioning. As the game wore on, Hogan's point total, usually in the area of 20 points, stayed at the same mark. No points.

A box-and-one defense confounded Tim, but, like a true champion, he broke through when it counted the most. Thanks to deadly free throw shooting by Jamie Hogan and Joe Gray, the Warriors assumed a 33-51 lead with 22 seconds left.

As the Kahok crowd screamed, Tim stepped to the foul line and drilled both shots to give the Warriors a 4-point edge. The Kahoks cut it to two points, then John Barberis hit the shot that almost went down in Illinois high school lore.

The Kahok senior's 60-foot prayer at the buzzer swished, but the officials ruled he had released the ball an instant after the buzzer had sounded.

The Warriors, to a man, knew they had survived a war.

War will be declared again tonight at 7:30 p.m. at East St. Louis (Sr.) High School, when Granite City takes on the Belleville West Maroons, surprise winners of the Belleville Regional. The Maroons shocked top-seeded Mascoutah 62-47 on Friday.

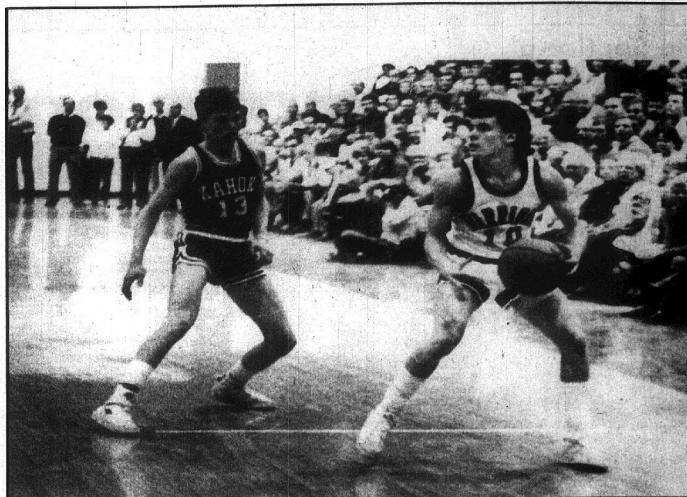

The Warriors should win on the neutral court. They wallpied West 82-63 on Dec. 7 at Granite City. Then got by the Maroons 82-75 Feb. 15 in Belleville. Tim Hogan had 62 points in the two games, including 33 in the second affair.

A win tonight would send the Warriors into Friday's final against, probably, the East St. Louis (Lincoln) Tigers. That is, if the Civic Memorial Eagles don't have any more miracles up their sleeves.

Doug Carey's 15-foot jump shot at the buzzer Friday knocked the Alton Redbirds into next season, 56-54. That means the Warriors won't get to have a rubber match with the Redbirds after splitting two thrilling games this year. And playing the Tigers in East St. Louis doesn't figure to be any picnic.

Still, you can't put anything past these guys. They have not every challenge this year. If the can get through East St. Louis, their chances in Carbondale next week would be fairly good.

It would then be time to taste the "Champaign."

TIM HOGAN will lead the Warriors into the East St. Louis Sectional tonight against Belleville West.

wouldn't bet my life on either team.

Lusk wouldn't go as far as saying his team was intimidated by some blocked shots, particularly by Ware, but "kids are kids."

"It probably bothered them a little," he said. "It would bother the pro Venice has a lot of great players, and they played smart tonight."

But never smarter than they were in the third quarter.

talent he is talking about, local basketball fans will have reasons to come.

"The (Ed) Ware kid down at Venice might be a good player for our program," Collins said.

Collins also mentioned Anthony Valentine of Madison, who would help in the ball handling portion of the game. The possibility of Joe Gray of Granite City joining brother Jeff at GCC was mentioned to Collins. He would certainly welcome another good ball handler like that, but wasn't counting on it.

Joe is looking to play soccer in college and has visited Western Illinois, where five Granite City kids are already playing and another, Scott Blason, has announced he will go to WIU in the fall.

"We will have Don Stevanus next year," Collins said of another 1985 GCCS graduate who was away for the first semester but came back to GCC in January. "He will be eligible to play for us."

No matter what players he gets, Collins said they will have to work on and off the court.

"They have to be good students," he said. "We have to find those students who will work. We don't let them take any soft classes here. The kids that come here aren't the greatest students in the world, obviously, or they wouldn't be going to a junior college. But we want kids who are willing to study."

SIU wrestlers take 3rd national crown

EDWARDSVILLE — The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Cougars won their third straight NCAA Division II wrestling title last weekend.

The Cougars scored 119 points in the national tournament, held at the Vadalabene Center, to edge Edinboro (Pa.) University and California State-Bakersfield. Edinboro finished second with 108½ points and Cal State was third with 81½ points.

Individually, the Cougars had three national champions, including Tim Wright in the 118-pound class. Wright won his third consecutive national title with a 4-3 decision over Perry Almschough of Liberty University in the finals. Wright also had to defeat Darin Baldwin of Livingston. Dave Rowan of Edinboro and John Christen of North Dakota to win the title. Only a junior, Wright finished the season with a record of 41-2.

Alan Grammer, the national champion last year at 134 pounds, took the 126-pound title this year with a 7-4 decision over Anthony Amado of Portland State. Amado was the defending champion in the 126-pound weight class. Grammer advanced through the bracket with wins over Berard Phante of Lake Superior State, Joe Stukes of Pembroke State and Paul Anderson of St. Cloud State Grammer finished at 22-1.

The Cougars' third national champion was Steve Stearns in the 134-pound weight class. Stearns won on a tie-breaker in overtime over David Ray of Edinboro in the finals on Saturday. Stearns, finishing at 36-8-1, also defeated Skip Goerner of Lake Superior State, Skip Smith of Wright State and Bill O'Connor of Northwest Missouri State on his way to the title in the two-day event.

The Cougars had five other wrestlers entered in the weekend tournament. Kip Kristoff of Bethalto (142 pounds) lost his first match at Perry Fink of South Dakota State. Kip Kristoff finished at 11-14. Brian McTague took second place in the 150-pound class when he lost to Bob Kaufman of Edinboro in the championship match. Earlier, McTague had beaten Todd Logsdon of Liberty, Lloyd Hygelund of Portland State and Jim Martinson of North Dakota to reach the final round.

Bob Dahm took fifth place in the 158-pound class. He outwrestled Livingston's Steve Williams and Portland State's Wayne Trosino before losing to Mike Haesey of Edinboro. But Dahm then won on a forfeit by Ken Davis of Wright State for fifth place.

Mark Kristoff finished second at 167 pounds by defeating Brad Solberg of North Dakota. Fred Meyer of Southern Connecticut and John Barrett of St. Cloud State. He fell, however, to Darryl Pope of Cal State-Bakersfield in the title bout.

Ernie Badger took fifth place in the 190-pound class. Badger defeated Matt Palmer of North Dakota State, lost to Jay Stainback of Pembroke State, defeated Don Wolfe of Humboldt State in the consolation bracket, then went on to score a win over Mike Arnold of Lake Superior State. R.J. Nebe of Nebraska-Omaha beat Badger in the consolation semifinals, but Badger beat Stainback in a rematch for fifth place.

Other national champions included Greg Wright of Edinboro (142 pounds); Pat Huyc of Cal State-Bakersfield (158 pounds); Marvin Jones of Cal State-Bakersfield (177 pounds); Kohn Knight of Augustana (S.D.), the only wrestler other than Wright and Grammer to repeat from last year (190 pounds); and Dean Hall of Edinboro (heavyweight).
